WORLD'S BIGGEST CATASTROPHE It is the Plague Epidemic New on in

The greatest catastrophe the world has ever known is in progress at this present moment, and the world recks little or nothing of it. This is the plague epidemic in India, which has now been raging for more than 11 years, and which, so far from showing any tendency to die out. keeps steadily increasing in intensity. Thus, during the six weeks ending May 11 last, 481,892 persons perished from it, or at the rate of over 80,000 deaths a week. Nothing approaching the appalling horror represented by these figures has ever been recorded before. The nearest to it was in 1905, when, during the last week in March, the epidemic was responsible for 57,702 deaths.

THE CAT CAME BACK.

But It Was Not at Home in the Country for Awhile.

The kitten that the little city girl had brought back from the country with her last full had grown to be a big, beautiful cat when the time came to go to the mountains again, so he was placed in a basket and carried to the train, the first time stace his babyhood that he had been below the third floor of the apartment house. There was little surprise and a good deal of amusement, therefore, at the cat's ideas of nature, gained, as they had been, by close inspection of fire escapes and adjacent brick walls, with an occasional glimpse of an asphalt pavement. For the first three or four days it was impossible to keep pussy on the ground floor. It would run to the top of the big farmhouse and peer out of the window whenever it was released on the verands. Gradually, however, it became accustomed to life on the ground level, and is a week or so timidly ventured outdoors by itself. Then it was quickly found that its natural instincts had not been affected by city life, for it soon became a terror to, song birds, much to the disgust of its little mistress, who is constantly torn with grief between her an occasional glimpse of an asphalt constantly torn with grief between her love for the cat and for the birdes that fell victims of its cunning. Now that fell victims of its cunning. Now that puesy has taken to sleeping out that fell victims of its cunning. Now ingt pursy has taken to sleeping out of doors it is a serious problem whether to bring it back to the city again or

THIS JURY DOES NOT BELIEVE IN BRAIN STORMS

Pittsburg, Oct. 26.-Emotional in sanity and brain storms do not go with Allegheny County murder jur. tes. William Talbot smith was convicted of murder in the first degree for cutting the throat of his reputed wife, Maggie Smith, in a fit of jealous rage. The jury was out all night and this morning asked Judge MacFarlane for instruc-tions as to emotional insanity and brain storms. They were told not to consider such matters, as they were not recognized by rania laws. A few hours later rdict was returned.

Postmaster is Losing Money But Uncle Sam Will not Let Him Quit.

Chleago, Oct. 26.-Thomas Knotts resident of the Board of crustees and Postmaster of the town of lary, is lozing money as custodian of the mails, and wants to resign, but Uncle Sam won't let him

When the office of Postmaster was established, with a salary of 90 per month attached, and the only work was that of handling an occasional letter to the few hunired laborers which at the amo comprised the town, it looked inviting to Knotts.

He was "Mayor" of the steel city and President of the Real Estate Board and several other things when his duties as Postmaster began to grow. More people came to Gary, and with them the mail business continued to grow and the clerical force now numbers four men, whose joint salaries reach $170 a month, or $80 more than the amount received by Knotts as Postmaster. He has to pay them

He has sent letters to his superfors at Washington begging that he be relieved He obtained no satis. taction, and then declared that if there was not more money forth. coming he would shut up shop. Back came the stern reply that if he did he would feel the force of the Federal law. He is still paying out more than he receives.
